Section B ? Important information

Eligibility

Students may apply for special consideration on a range of medical or non-medical grounds where they experience unexpected circumstances outside their control which:

? prevent them from submitting assessable task/s or

? prevent them from attending an assessment task/s or

substantially affect their performance in the above.

The special consideration process is not intended for long-term physical or mental health conditions or disabilities.

The application must clearly demonstrate that it meets the eligibility criteria as identified in the Assessment and Assessment Flexibility Policy and the Assessment Processes at policies.rmit.edu.au. The granting of special consideration is not automatic but is decided on the basis of your application and the evidence supplied.

This process does not apply to:

students seeking an extension of seven calendar days or less from the original submission due date to submit assessment tasks.

A separate Application for extension of time to submit assessment work form (available from rmit.edu.vn/students/my-studies/assessment-and-results/extensions-and-special-consideration/extensions) must be completed. These applications must be submitted to the school that offers the course no later than one working day before the assessment deadline. research students? thesis courses. Higher degree by research students should contact their supervisor to discuss support.

Section C ? Instructions

Lodgement options

Applications must be submitted no later than five working days after the date/due date of the assessment for which you are seeking special consideration.

If you are unable to obtain your supporting documentation by this deadline you must still submit your application but include a statement advising that your supporting documentation will follow. You have a maximum of five working days from the date the application was submitted to provide your supporting documentation.

An application may be submitted:

via Student Connect portal

via email to assessment.support@rmit.edu.vn.

Please retain a copy of your application and supporting documentation.

Applicants for adjustments to study and assessment conditions must contact Equitable Learning Services (see rmit.edu.vn/students/support/wellbeing-support/equitable-learning-and-accessibility) to be assessed for eligibility for an Equitable Learning Plan.

Completing this form

When using this form, please ensure you complete the following:

1. Provide complete details for each assessment in a course for which you seek special consideration (Section D).

2. Provide a detailed statement of your grounds for special consideration (Section G).

Supporting documentation ? Your application must be accompanied by independent substantiating documentation written in English or accompanied by an accredited translation.

If you are applying on medical/psychological grounds, we recommend that the Impact assessment statement section of this form (page 4) is completed by an independent, qualified practitioner who is treating you.

3. Sign and date the student declaration (Section H).

Your notification of application outcome will be sent within 10 working days to your RMIT student email account. It is your responsibility to check that account regularly and ensure it is able to receive mail.

Extensions of more than seven calendar days from the original due date for submittable work (e.g. assignments, projects, etc.): It is expected that you will continue to progress that work and submit it as soon as possible while your application is under consideration.

Late applications will only be considered if compelling or compassionate reasons are evidenced. Such applications must contain a detailed explanation of the reasons for being late, supported by documentary evidence of these reasons.

Section E ? Impact assessment statement ? for a special consideration application on health/medical grounds

Please note: This impact assessment statement (IAS) is the best way to establish medical/health grounds for a special consideration application. A standard medical certificate can also be accepted if it states the dates and nature of the impact. If difficult personal circumstances are impacting your health, wellbeing and studies and you're unable to provide other supporting evidence, you may provide a completed IAS. This IAS must be completed by the registered medical/health practitioner who treated you for the condition

(or supported you with your difficult circumstances). You may also include other documentation such as a letter from the practitioner.

I agree to RMIT University contacting my medical/health practitioner as necessary to clarify the information provided below.
