

MOET and RMIT Vietnam promote excellence in online learning design

Source: <https://www.rmit.edu.vn/news/all-news/2026/jul/moet-and-rmit-vietnam-promote-excellence-in-online-learning-design>

Crawled: 2026-08-04T10:17:12.831178

The hidden psychology behind older consumers? digital payment choices

Why do some older consumers readily embrace digital payments while others remain hesitant? Emerging research suggests the answer may lie in the psychological factors that shape how people respond to change.

Vietnam's social media proposal raises questions beyond child safety

Vietnam's proposed restrictions on social media use for under-16s could improve child safety, but experts say effective implementation and unintended consequences must be considered.

MOET and RMIT Vietnam promote excellence in online learning design

MOET and RMIT Vietnam bring together higher education leaders to advance online learning design in Vietnam.

Vietnam's path to sovereign AI lies in specialisation, not imitation

Vietnam's path to artificial intelligence (AI) sovereignty may not lie in competing head-to-head with global technology giants, but in developing specialised AI systems tailored to local needs, according to an RMIT expert.